Architectural Record* Recognizes Overhead Door™ With ‘Product of the Year’ for EverServe® Model 521S

The brand’s expanded line of aluminum glass doors was deemed one of the most innovative products on the market in 2022 in the windows and doors category

January 3, 2022 - The Overhead Door™ Brand’s industry-leading performance solution

EverServe® Aluminum Glass Door Model 521S has been named a ‘Product of the Year’ award winner in the Windows and Doors category by Architectural Record, the nation’s leading source for design, products and news in the AEC (architecture, engineering and construction) community. Every year, Architectural Record hosts an independent panel of reputable industry specialists who select the leading products of the year in terms of innovation, usefulness and aesthetics.

“Being selected for ‘Product of the Year’ by such a reputable and highly esteemed publication is a testament to our dedicated team and continued innovation within the industry,” The Overhead Door™ Brand Product Manager Moses Colunga said. “The expanded Everserve® line allows business owners of all types to achieve a full-view aesthetic with maximum light infiltration to truly illuminate their space while enjoying high-cycle, low maintenance and enhanced durability.”

Business owners should not sacrifice safety for style. Model 521S is a premier solution for commercial and industrial applications, thanks to an industry-leading 300,000 cycle life and two-year warranty. The springless design eliminates the need for a counterbalance, offering minimal downtime and enhanced productivity. Additionally, it features a built-in braking mechanism and wireless sensing edge for peace-of-mind against uncontrolled curtain travel.

With various finishes and custom color options, business owners can style the door to accentuate the natural light and environmental features. From auto dealerships to upscale restaurants, fire stations and galleries, Model 521S doors are uniquely qualified to serve in a variety of locations.

Winners of the 2022 Architectural Record ‘Products of the Year’ awards are featured in the publication’s December issue. For more information, visit:
